Why not write something for the next Irish Orienteer?

Printed by Denton Print, Dundrum, Dublin 14. (01-988944)

Éire on a shoe string

It may not be a popular thing to suggest, except to club treasurers, but is it possible that we are not paying enough for our orienteering? The sport has always been exceptional value for money, with entry fees which never reflected the real costs involved in terms of the time willingly given by enthusisatic volunteers. As orienteering developed the cost of map production, both financial and in effort and time, has increased dramatically.

Where once a photocopy of an Ordnance Survey map was sufficient, we nowadays expect five colour maps produced from aerial photographs and drawn on computers, to international orienteering map specifications. The cost of producing a map is staggering. The useful life of most maps of forested areas is only perhaps two to three years at which stage we have to start again.

On the organisational front, the amount of time and effort required to run even a modest event is substantial. Few sports can require as much organisation as orienteering: to organise a road race, you don't first have to build the road, to play football you don't have to build the stadium each Sunday. We do. Much of this effort goes on behind the scenes and many participants aren't aware of it.

What does it cost us? Perhaps £2 for a day's outing. From this the IOA gets 20p, the map may cost 60p, event expenses may be 50p and the organising club may end up with 50p to print their next map and to run the sport. When prizes are required this adds perhaps £200 to the costs. Coillte are now charging as much as 50 p per head for permits to orienteer, a facility which we as citizens were previously granted for nothing.

It has been said that there are three kinds of orienteer: One who looks at the map and says "That's where I am", one who says "That's where I'm going" and one who says "Where the hell am I?". Orienteering in Ireland has meandered in the wilderness for more than 20 years without a firm sense of direction: we need to know where we're going. And we need the money to get there.

Michael Hewson

Michael died on 3rd February, aged 62. We are all deeply saddened and shocked by his sudden death and extend our sympathies to his wife, Una, and family.
Michael led his life to the full and had many varied interests of which orienteering was only one. He was always cheerful and always had a word for all those he knew. He was a lovely man, he was a gentleman.
Michael will be sorely missed by many, including all in orienteering who knew him.

Mary Healy,
Chairman, GEN.

I first met Michael many years ago when he was working as one of the keepers at the National Library, where he was later to become Director. Although at first only casual acquaintances, we gradually got to know each other over the years and I suppose I dropped in on him for a chat most weeks. About that time I noticed he was expending a lot of energy running around College Park so I suggested to him that he might find more enjoyment in orienteering. He agreed to try it and so began his love/hate relationship with the sport, which we all shared with him from time to time.
As we all know, he had his "days" - good and bad - but whatever the result he was unfailingly cheerful. His, to us, legendary "180°s" were shrugged off in the sure knowledge that next time would be better - and next time very often was. Michael was such a good runner - how many of us could complete a marathon, let alone easily break the 4-hour barrier?
Although isolated on the Northside, he served his time on the club committee, even though it meant a drive all the way across the city. His interest was such that we all hoped that one day he could be persuaded to take over the chair.
On a selfish note, I just don't know how we will cope with "Results" at future events. For years now, it has automatically been assumed that Michael would do the results and that is exactly what he has done - one didn't even need to ask him.
Michael, Diana Large, Mary Healy and myself have shared B & B's in nearly every part of the country. It just won't be the same without him. We will miss him terribly.

Andrew Bonar Law,
GEN.

It seems strange to think that we won't see Michael's small, wiry, grey-headed frame with his Civil Service AC clubmates out doing the "10" in the Phoenix Park on weekday lunchtimes, or the distinctive wine and green O-suit in the forests again. As a fellow Northside resident I used occasionally share transport to events with Michael and always found him a congenial companion even though I resented having to send him a complimentary copy of TIO before his retirement from the Directorship of the National Library. In common with many other orienteers he was a notoriously erratic navigator, often turning the simplest legs into navigational epics. Let us hope that he enjoyed his last run at the AJAX event at Cloghleagh the day before he died. May he rest in peace.

John McCullough.

Veterans Interpro?

Dear John,
In the November TIO Alan Gartside has a report of the Veteran Home International which was held in Scotland. He suggested holding Veteran Interprovincials to improve the standard of the veterans. I believe this is a good idea.
Writing as a W45 I think that if the courses in the Irish and other Championships, including the Irish Two-Day, were of similar technical difficulty and length to British classes it would help the veterans to improve their standard.

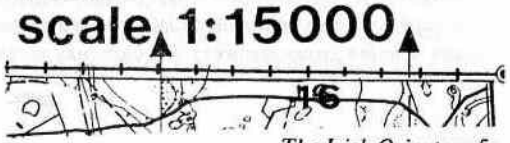
Yours sincerely,
Sue Pim,
Waterford Orienteers.

MUNSTER CHAMPS 1992

On May 10th next Lee Orienteers, headed up by Clare Nuttall who will plan the courses, will run the Munster Championships 1992 on a new map of Combaun on the south-western edge of the Galtee Mountains.
Clare, a Wicklow woman familiar since childhood with the mountain ways of that lovely county, has been involved in the sport of orienteering since its beginnings in Munster in the 1970's. One of the foremost of the sport in Ireland, Clare is a founder member of lee Orienteers which had its genesis in the Munster Orienteering Club, the very first club in the province. As an experienced course planner she has designed courses which have tested the best orienteers in the country and stimulated beginners to take a further interest in the sport. This event is bound to be satisfying to all comers, beginners and experienced alike.
Combaun is situated five miles north of Mitchelstown (Grid reference R 82 19) and the area consists of conifer forest of varying degrees of maturity, open hillside and farmland, some deep-sided valleys and terrific panoramic views of the Golden Vale. Controller of the event is Barry Dalby and organiser id Michéal ´OhUigín.
The latest date for entry is Monday April 13th. Competitors are reminded of the new rule that only those who have pre-entered can compete in the Championships. Entry forms are enclosed with this issue of TIO, through the clubs or from Lee Orienteers, c/o 4 Upper Panorama Terrace, Sunday's Well, Cork.

Map bits

Throughout this issue you will find small pieces of map such as this. How many can you identify? A prize for the best result by April 20th!



THE IRISH ORIENTEER TROPHY

In the past couple of years The Irish Orienteer Trophy has fallen behind in terms of running off the series of events in any one year, and this year is no exception. The state of play at the moment is that Lagan Valley Orienteers, the holders, and Cork Orienteers have been through to the Final for some months. The Leinster competition has been holding things up, as it is likely to do seeing as how that's where most of the participating clubs are. 3ROC defeated GEN at the AJAX event at Saggart, CNOC beat SET at the AJAX event at Cloghleagh, and Fingal and AJAX are to take one another on at the Sugarloaf on March 8th. At the same event CNOC will take on 3ROC and the winner of FIN v AJAX (by means of some judicious results juggling - they don't have to run twice!) to produce the Leinster Finalists. The Irish final will be run at the Irish Championships in Galway in April using a modified scoring system to cope with the variety of classes involved. This is the final of the 1991 competition, remember.

Meanwhile the 1992 competition is getting under way. All clubs have been invited to enter. Entries close on March 28th and the initial rounds will be finished by July 31st to yield the provincial finalists. A date has been set for mid September for the Irish final which should enable the winners to travel to Wales to represent Ireland in the final of the CompassSport Cup final on October 10th if they so desire. Clubs whose matches are not decided by the due date will be eliminated!

The Rules for the 1992 series

These are more or less the same as in previous years except that some of the class/course combinations have been modified. There are six teams running on five courses, as follows:

Team A	Brown course	M21
Team B	Brown course	M19, M35
Team C	Blue course	W19, W21, M17, M40, M45
Team D	Green course	M50+, W35+, at least one M or W50+
Team E	Red course	M15, W17
Team F	Orange course	M13, W13, W15

Other courses may be provided by the organisers but won't form part of the TIO Trophy .

Course lengths and degrees of difficulty are as specified in the regulations for colour events. In summary, Brown (8 km+, technically hard, most finishers 60-85 mins), Blue (5.5-7 km, technically hard, most finishers 50-75 mins), Green (3.5-4.5 km, technically hard, most finishers 35-55 mins), Red (4.5-6 km, technically medium, most finishers 50-80 mins), Orange (2.5-3.5 km, easy-medium, most finishers 35-55 mins).

Eligibility: All competitors must be currently paid-up members of the club which they represent in the competition. No competitor may represent more than one club in the course of the competition. Juniors who are group members of a club may represent the host club.

Fixtures: The first-named club in any match is responsible for offering a mutually acceptable venue to their opponents. Venues should be convenient and, if agreed by both clubs, need not be on neutral terrain. Clubs should give special consideration to holding special events uniquely for the TIO Trophy. Please contact the organisers of any event being used to ensure that it's all right to use the event for the TIO Trophy. Please let TIO know the fixtures details and results also!

Teams: Six teams may participate for each club. There is no limit to the number of runners a club may field. No runner may run competitively more than once per match. Any competitor may run up a class or classes but otherwise must compete in a team appropriate to their age category, as listed above. Non-M21's representing Team A must mark this clearly on their control cards or they will be treated as representing Team B.

Scoring: Points will be awarded to the best three runners from each club on each course. In two-club matches points will be awarded 6-5-4-3-2-1, in three club matches, 9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1. The club with the highest total of points from the six teams will be the winner. In the event of a tie the club with the highest number of course victories will win, then the most seconds, thirds etc. if the match is still not decided the team with the lowest aggregate time of scoring members will win.

In the event of a course or courses being declared void by the event controller then the result of the match will be decided solely on the courses not voided.

Results should be determined on the day and should be notified to the Editor and to the participating clubs within seven days.

Disputes: The competition is organised in a spirit of goodwill and it is hoped that all problems can be sorted out amicably. If this is not possible the Editor will adjudicate.

Special note: Having seen the results of some TIO Trophy events over the years, the calculation of results will be immeasurably simplified if the clubs participating in each match take a few simple precautions:

1. Nominate one person to ensure that all your club members know what course they are to run.

2. Make sure that the correct details are filled in on the control card, together with an indication that the person is running in a TIO Trophy match, as stipulated by the organisers (e.g. write a big "TIO" on the top of the card). By "correct details" I mean (a) name, (b) club, (c) age class, (d) team A, B, C etc. Unless these details are on the card it will not be used in the calculation of results.

3. Nominate an overseer for the results to monitor performances and agree the results with the overseer from the other club (s). Perhaps the organisers would appreciate some help in processing the results? It would also help to get them displayed quickly.

4. Use something like the Alan Gartside method of identifying the counting runners on each team: have 36 paper clips or clothes pegs, half with one colour wool and half with another. Clip them onto the three runners per club per team who are scoring to identify them at a glance.

John McCullough.

STOP PRESS: Sugarloaf 8th March: AJAX beat FIN 67 to 46. AJA went through to Leinster Final. 3ROC then beat both AJAX and CNOC by 117 to 85 to 56 and go on to meet LVO and CorkO in the Final at the Irish Championships.

CORRECTIONS

One hawk-eyed reader has pointed out that the Junior age classes listed on page 4 of TIO 56 are wrong. The correct years are as follows: M/W 19 (1972-73), M/W 17 (1974-75), M/W 15 (1976-77), M/W 13 (1978-79), M/W 11 (1980-81), M/W 10 (1982 or later). Sorry about that! I also noticed that the 1992 Swedish 5-Day is referred to as being in Orebro. It is, of course, in Sodertalje. By the way, who noticed that the year on the Irish Championships entry forms was 1991, not 1992? Finally, for the sake of consistency, Leningrad should have been referred to as St. Petersburg. OK?

POLO?

Our security correspondent writes that orienteering has just been accepted as an official sport in An Garda Síochána. Before the last European Police Championships in Sweden a call went out for members of the police force with orienteering experience but none could be found, although it is hoped to get a team together for the next event in Norway in 1993. Padraig Higgins of Western Eagles Orienteers in Galway has been working on a map of the Devil's Bit Mountain near Templemore, Co. Tipperary, the location of the Garda Training College, and the plan is to run a Garda Championships in the autumn. The motive force behind the plan is running star Connie Lynch, a former winner of the National Intermediate Cross Country, who is a PE instructor at the College. To get a team up to Norwegian standard from scratch in less than two years - now there's a challenge!

SALES PERSONNEL WANTED

The Great Outdoors is recruiting staff. Applicants should have a background in outdoor activities, have an outgoing personality and be prepared to work hard. Successful applicants can look forward to a career in retail selling with possible opportunities in buying and management.

Applications in writing with full C.V. to: Caroline Doherty, Great Outdoors, Chatham St., Dublin 2.

WEIRD-O

Picture the scene: a full moon rising over Dublin's Phoenix Park, the largest enclosed park in a European capital city; the mist rising off the Liffey as it flows by; orienteers girding their loins before going gentle into that good night. An intending competitor, mindful of the perhaps exaggerated reputation of the Park for odd goings-on by night, asks the organiser "Are there many freaks or weirdos out there tonight?" Organiser (quickly counting the stubs) "Only about twelve so far".

WEEKEND SPORTSBEAT

CKR Radio, based in Carlow, are very keen to get sports news and results for their weekend sports programme "Weekend Sportsbeat" which goes out on Saturdays from 2 to 6 pm and on Sundays from 3 to 7 pm. There's a full results roundup on each day at 5.30 and orienteering results will be most welcome. Contact them on 0503-41044 with results (FAX 0503-41047).

Head of Sport Clem Ryan has contacted IOA at the House of Sport to invite clubs to submit news and results to them. CKR Radio primarily serve Carlow and Kildare, broadcasting on 97.3 and 97.6 kHz FM.

In view of Irish orienteering's record on public relations, with a trail of burnt out PRO's in its wake, it seems unlikely that anything will come of this initiative, but maybe that's just another burnt out PRO speaking ...

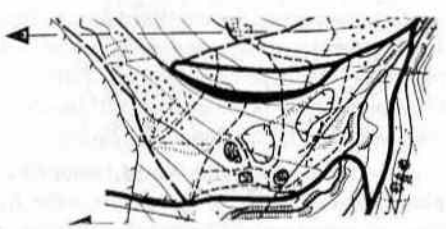
ANYONE FOR MOSC-O?

The following intriguing proposal for "joint venture sportive tourisme" in Russia has been passed on by IOA:

Groupe of russian sportsmen having more than 7-year experience in sportive tourisme (hiking), including expeditions in Kola peninsula, polar Ural, Kaukasus, Krimea, Karpaty, and Sakhalin, and now planning expedition to Baikal region is looking for foreign partner in order to found the joint venture. Purpose of this venture is to organize the sportive touristic trips of foreign tourists to different parts of Russia. This kind of trips is different from what is provided by existing tourist agencies. This venture will organize groups consisting of foreigners having necessary sportive background and adequate health conditions and a number of russian experienced tourists. These groups will start from e.g Moscow to the initial point of a sportive route, that may include hiking and raft paths or both. It is assumed that significant part of the trip will be quite far from cities, villages and roads, that every participant of the group will carry significant weight, and that groupe will sleep in tents and prepare the meal on the spot. Russian sportsmen will provide guidance and help necessary in these kind of trips.

It is proposed that russian part of the venture will work out detailed proposals on sportive routes, and will solve all intrinsic problems associated with this venture. Equipment for this enterprise will be provided by both sides. The summer trips may include training and experience in windsurfing on russian lakes.

Enquiries should be addressed to: Dmitry Obod, Novoyasenevskiy pr. 32-1-25, Moskow 117463, Russia. (Phone 16-7-095-4224431)



BE ACTIVE, BE ALIVE

Not content with "Be Active, Be Alive week" Cospoir, the National Sports Council are this year promoting the "Be Active, Be Alive Challenge" for the month of May. The aim of the project is to challenge Irish adults of all ages and abilities to partake in at least three sessions of physical activity each week for four weeks. The events are being co-ordinated by the local Vocational Educational Committees around the country and all the orienteering events in May are being listed in the publicity material.

Specific days have been allocated to certain activities: cycling)May 3rd), walking (10th), challenging older people (14th), pitch and putt (20th) and a family activity weekend (23/24th). A training day for local group leaders who want to organise an activity will be run in St. Brendan's Hospital, Dublin on Saturday April 4th. Details from 01-501633.

Odds 'n' Ends 'n' Odds

The times of the first three on the Green course at Malahide Castle, run by UCDO on December 8th, reported in TIO 56, make interesting reading. The course was 5.3 km by straight lines, probably at least 6 km actual distance run, with 18 controls. Larry Scott (no club, no age class) apparently completed the course in 20.35, at 3.4 min/km approx. The second and third finishers Rita Flanagan and Laura Weafer also had exceptional times. Selectors take note! We will watch their future results with interest...

If you can't get to JK92 in the Lake District you might like to set your sights on the 1993 event which will be south of London. The event centre will be Basingstoke Sports Centre, with events at Woolmer/Longmoor, Long Valley and Highclere. Some if not all of these are military training areas in Hampshire, tricky navigation (lots of depressions), vague vegetation changes from open to scattered birch trees to forest, but very fast running. Easter 1993 is on April 9-12.

An alarming feature of many of the events in Leinster since September has been the number of misplaced controls and wrong control codes causing courses to be voided. Possibly an even more alarming feature is the reluctance of the organisers to own up afterwards in the results, to admit that there was a problem and say "Sorry, we'll try our best to make sure it doesn't happen again". If we are taking money from people to offer them a service, it isn't good enough to be careless in these matters. What do you think?

An interdenominational service for the Gift of Sport will take place in St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, on Sunday 8th March at 7.30 pm. Irish Olympian Dave Guiney will address the assembly. All sportsmen and women are welcome.

The recent AGM of the Association for Adventure Sports (AFAS) saw John Creagh, IOA Development Officer, being elected to the Board. IOA Treasurer Pat Flanagan has been a Board member for several years but has now stepped down.

Paddy O'Leary, Director of the National Adventure Centre at Tiglin since its inception, has resigned from the job to pursue other interests. Paddy was one of the first orienteers in Ireland back in 1969 and has been involved in adventure sports for many years. Known principally as a climber, Paddy has climbed extensively in the Alps, the Himalaya, North and South America and Greenland, among others, and is a proficient canoeist. His retirement should give him time to finish his MSc in geology.

For the record, the Junior Squad had a training weekend at Killary in Co. Galway on February 15/16th, which should set them up nicely for the Irish Champs. Setanta ran a night event at the Hellfire Club on December 27th last.

There's still time (just) to submit nominations for the Silva Award and the Mactíre Trophy. Details from IOA.

Some interesting map symbols have surfaced at some Leinster events recently: two small green circles at Saggart which would normally indicate single trees are referred to "Prominent road" while at Killiney Hill some obelisks on the map, shown by the IOF symbol for a mast or a pillar, appeared in the control descriptions as "Pillar mast". Anxious competitors scanned the horizon to see what it could be ...

HELLO!

We, Sofia and Marie, are two 18 years old girls from Sweden, who would like to meet new people and their culture. We would be very happy if you could live and work and training orienteering. It would be superb to live with someone who is orinteering. We hope that you will help us, anyway, will you send us some information please.

Greatings from Sofia and Marie.

(If this makes any sense to you, write to: Marie Ivarsson, Skolgatan 74, 441 35 Alingsås, Sweden).

GOODBYE, PORTMARNOCK

The small orienteering map of the sand dunes at Portmarnock in north County Dublin, drawn by Aonghus ´OCléirigh in 1986, has been overtaken by events. 3ROC planned to hold a night event there on 29th February but the week before that the excavators moved in and permission was withheld. Construction work has started on a new golf course, hotel and leisure centre being developed by a company called IMG (Portmarnock). They were granted planning permission in 1990 by the planning appeals board, An Bord Pleanála. Although the area was never used very much for orienteering it had potential for quite demanding navigation in the intricate, 2.5 metre contoured dunes. The lands covered by the map are part of the old Jameson estate. I suppose that's progress.

JUNIOR NEWS

Apply now to IOA Junior Affairs Officer Bernard Creedon if you are an M or W17 interested in going to the French 4-Day in the Champagne region in early July, where you will learn something to your advantage ...

Selection events for the Ward Junior Home International in the autumn are the Leinster Championships (Mullaghmeen, March 28th), Irish Championships (Cornamona, April 25) and Shamrock O-Ringen (West Cork, June 26-28).

Selection events for the World Junior Championships in Finland in mid-July are the Irish Championships and the Shamrock O-Ringen, but take note: to be selected you must run in the M/W19 classes in these events.

Another training weekend is planned for late August for National Squad juniors and potential squad members. The probable location will be in Connaught.

Contact Bernard Creedon, "Tavio", Mount Prospect, Douglas, Co. Cork (021-361824).

WORLD CORPORATE GAMES

The 5th Annual World Corporate Games comes to London in late September and orienteering will be featured as one of the sports. The event hopes to attract weekend sportspeople of all standards from all over the world and over 8000 will be taking part in the twenty two sports on offer, from dragonboat racing to diving, table tennis to triathlon.
LOK are running a cross-country orienteering event at Addington Hills on Saturday October 3rd with six classes from 2.5 to 6 km and Croydon OC are staging a score event at Happy Valley on Sunday 4th. Addington is a small but intricate area of runnable forest while Happy Valley is fast, undulating terrain geared to an enjoyable score competition. Several Scandinavians have indicated their intention to come to the events and both team and individual competitions are included.
Over 1000 corporations and organisations are expected to take part in this year's Games. "Corporate" is used in its loosest possible sense in the title, ranging from large businesses down to local clubs. The event was previously hosted by San Francisco, Concord (California), Hawaii and Lille, and has as its theme "Sport for Life". All the events, not just the orienteering, are run in age categories. All orienteers are welcome whether individually or as a club.
For further details contact World Corporate Games 1992, Suite 2/22, Chelsea Garden Market, Chelsea Harbour, London SW10 0XE (Phone 03-071-351-1992).

IRISH CHAMPIONSHIPS NOTICE

The organisers of the Irish Championships would like to point out that, contrary to the information on the entry form circulated in TIO 56, there will be Elite classes in the Individual event. There are also some changes to the relay classes advertised in the entry form.

The amended classes are as follows:

Individual event, Cornamona, Co. Galway, Saturday 25th April
All classes M/W 10 to M/W 65 (Championship classes).
M and W 21 Elite; M and W 21A Long; M and W 21A Short; M and W 21C. The "Short" courses will be of equal technical difficulty to the "Long" courses but only about two-thirds the length.

Relay event, Clarinbridge, Co. Galway, Sunday 26th April
Open 13-; Open 17-; Open; Open 40+; Open 50+.
Ladies 13-; Ladies 17-; Open Ladies; Ladies 40+.
Ad Hoc Club (Same club); Ad Hoc mixed (any clubs).
Anyone who has entered the event already and who finds that they are in the wrong class as a result of these changes should contact the organisers immediately. The organisers regret any problems which might have been caused.

9th World Ski-Orienteering Championships, Pontarlier, France, 28 January-2 February 1992.

Globetrotter Michael Deasy of Western Eagles OC in Galway, whose brother has a set of cross-country skis, records his impressions ...

It was certainly a new experience for me to go to a ski-orienteering event. My first impression was that it was more like string orienteering as the controls are just placed along paths. Control descriptions are not even supplied - if you are going along the correct path you will simply find the flag.

There is, however, a lot more to it than I first realised. The courses are run on maps with an intricate path network. There are only a small number of controls and the long legs are used to offer a huge variety of route choice. What makes it so interesting is that skiing is so much faster than running: the shortest skiable route on the men's long course was 29km and it was won in 94 minutes (3.24 min/km), so decisions about which path to take have to be taken at high speed.

On the technical side the maps used are ordinary summer orienteering maps with all the usual details. In addition the tracks that are skiable are shown in green. The snow on these tracks has to be flattened with ski-mobiles to make it suitable for cross-country skiing. Maps at the scale of 1:20 000 are used for the long distance events and 1:15 000 for the sprints. As the competitors need both hands to operate the ski poles the maps are held in a readable position by a bracket which is strapped around the back and neck. This device can be turned by means of a swivel so that the map can be oriented.

The competition was a great success, with 21 nations taking part. These included the three Baltic states and Romania for the first time. As expected the Scandinavians dominated the medal positions except for the Bronze won by Ivan Kuzmin (Russia) in both the Long and the Sprint and for the Silver taken by the Russian men's team in the Relays. Estonia also performed well with a number of placings in the top six. Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Italy also achieved placings in the top six. Only 32 seconds separated the top five positions in the men's long distance race!

The weather for the event was very pleasant: it was about -10C in the mornings, crisp and clear. It got up to about +5C in the afternoon, making for difficult skiing conditions, with the snow melting in the late afternoon and freezing overnight, making it very icy and slippy at the time of the races.

The next World Ski-O Championships will be in northern Italy in two years time. Maybe we could scrape together an Irish team - after all, we are represented in the Winter Olympics!

Results:

Vidar Banjaminsen of Norway won the men's long course in 94.34 with Vesa Makipaa (FIN) second in 94.48 and Ivan Kuzmin third in 94.53. In the women's long race Annika Zell (Sweden) won in 76.52, Finland's Mirja Ojanen was second in 78.58 and Swede Arja Hannus third in 81.03. Arja has also represented Sweden several times at WOC's in normal (foot) orienteering. Sally Sahni of Great Britain was a creditable 35th and the extraordinary Sharon Crawford (USA's answer to Eileen Loughman) was 44th. In the men's sprint competition the first three places were the same as in the long race while Arja Hannus won the women's race by14 seconds from Virpi Juutilainen (Finland) with Zell third. Sharon Crawford pulled up to 42nd but Sally Sahni dropped to 44th. In the men's relay the order of finishing was Finland, Russia, Norway and in the women's, Sweden, Finland, Norway.

National Sponsorship Policy

The original version of the following document was circulated by IOA Chairman Bernard Creedon last December in order to give clubs an indication of what funding could be obtained for orienteering and what it might be reasonable for orienteers to offer sponsors in return.

Sponsorship Categories for a Trial Period 1992-'93 together with suggested return for each category of sponsor:

1	Competition maps	£200 per map
2	School maps	£120 per map

Each map to show sponsor's name and logo etc. in colour on front of map (usually 2000-4000 printed).

3	Major competitions (Grade 1, pre-entry)	£150 per competition
4	Championship events	Irish Championships	£800
		Connaught Championships	£200
		Munster Championships	£300
		Leinster Championships	£400
		Irish Schools' Champs	£300
		Irish Two-Day	£400
		Shamrock O-Ringen	£1500

Where provided (see 5). Sponsor's start and finish banners would be used in the appropriate areas and/or sponsor's own placards or display boards would be prominent in the assembly or finish area. At least one pre-competition and one post-competition newspaper items (including a class winner photograph with a display board or finish banner background) should be targeted. This aspect is very important and must be seen as a minimum return to the sponsor. The sponsor would also be highlighted on the application forms, the pre-event programme and the results sheets or booklet as well as being offered advertising space in one of them.

5 Start and finish banners for above events £400

Start and finish banners should be of good quality, large and equipped with the usual supporting laces etc. These items should be charged out at cost.

6	National Orienteering Day	£1000
7	Annual printing of Orienteering Brochure	£1000

These are two more examples of self-operational publicity for potential sponsors. In the case of national O-Day the sponsor would be mentioned in pre-event posters and handouts as well as newspaper diaries and event reports. For the O-Brochure the sponsor gets his name/logo on the brochure itself (colour, 5000 copies) as well as representation at a press reception.

8 Junior training sponsorship (Currently AIB PLC) £1000

The training sponsorship is a special package including, for example, inclusion of sponsor's name/logo on all correspondence relating to the training weekend as well as the programme itself, presentation of approximately 25% of the sponsorship as prizes to winners in each of the 6 junior categories, pre-event and post-event publicity with photographs to newspapers, etc.

9	Promising Juniors training abroad (2/3 for several years)		£300
10	Top Juniors competing abroad (2/4 each year)		£200
11	Sponsorship of promising Junior (3/6 each year)		£150
12	Sponsorship of promising Senior (2/3 each year)		£150

Each of these would entail pre- and post-event publicity for the part sponsorship involved. The sponsor would also be entitled to use the journey/event in publicity obtained by himself independently. Some of these categories would lend themselves to local contacts. We should encourage provision of gear such as tracksuits, wind-breakers, sports bags etc. as part of this kind of sponsorship.

13	National Team O-suits	(Senior Squad each year)	£300
		(Junior Squad each year)	£300
		(Veteran Squad each year)	£200

This would entail provision of 30-60% sponsorship of National Squad O-suits each year (we are assuming 40% for Veterans and 60% for Seniors and Juniors). The sponsor would have his name/logo reproduced on the suit for that year and be guaranteed at least one pre-event and one post-event news item (relating to the appropriate international competition involved).

14	National Squad track suits etc	Approximately 75% of cost.

15	National Sponsor	Target £12,000 p.a. for 1993

The National Sponsor would effectively have access to all of the above for 1993. We should work for at least one year for partial sponsorships so as to accustom people at all levels, especially local level, to providing the sponsors with value for money.

IOA AGM PREVIEW

The Annual General Meeting of the Irish Orienteering Association will take place on the Saturday evening of the Irish Championships, 25th April 1992, in Galway City. All positions on the Executive committee will fall vacant at the meeting, according to the Constitution. Apart from the annual reports of the various officers and the election of the incoming committee, the meeting will be brought up to date on the insurance position which is going to lead to substantial increases in club affiliation fees this year.

This has been a year of change in Irish orienteering. The practice of charging substantial amounts for forestry permits has now become widespread, making organisers think twice about running small events such as for training or in the evenings and increased insurance and affiliation fees may push some smaller clubs towards amalgamating into more viable units. Several positions on the IOA are already vacant either through retirement or because they remained vacant since the last, very poorly attended AGM. There is no Administration Secretary or Environment Officer and we spent most of the last year without a PRO. Bernard Creedon is stepping down as Chairman; Pat Redmond wants to step down as Executive Secretary. Several officers are prepared to go forward again, however: Pat Flanagan as Treasurer, Sean Cotter as Fixtures Secretary, Faith White as International Officer, Paddy O'Brien as Coaching Officer, Bernard Creedon as Junior Affairs Officer; John O'Neill is reportedly interested in taking on the job of PRO; I don't know the wishes of the Mapping Officer (currently Brian Corbett), Technical Officer (Trina Cleary) or Development Officer (John Creagh). The remaining three places on the IOA Executive are the Chairmen on Munster, Leinster and Connaught.

As usual, clubs and individuals are asked to nominate candidates for the positions in advance of the AGM: this almost never happens. The practice is for nominations to be accepted from the floor at the meeting, a dangerous process as the resulting committee can be determined by chance and by the possibly small group of individuals present. Two other posts have to be filled at the AGM: the IOA elects two delegates to the FIOA, the joint IOA/NIOA committee which is supposed to regulate matters pertaining to all-Ireland orienteering: international teams, interprovincial competitions, Irish Championships and so on. This onerous task has for several years been undertaken by Frank Cunnane and John McCullough as elected delegates and by the IOA Chairman of the day and another nominee from the Executive.

If you're in Galway for IOC 92, try to make it to the meeting: the people who run orienteering on your bahalf do a thankless job and deserve your support - it's for you they do it, and it's your chance to voice your opinion where it will be heard.

Student Orienteering News

The Irish Orienteering Students' Association Championships competition took place in Ravensdale Wood, just north of Dundalk, on Saturday 15th February 1992. Over 150 competitors took part and there were A, B and C classes for both men and women. Competition in the A classes was very keen as this was a mandatory event for selection for the 1992 World Student Championships near Aberdeen in Scotland from 26-30 July.

The men's A course of 9.0 km which used a lot of the open mountainside was won by John Feehan of UCCO with Gavan Doherty (UCDO) second and David Ryan (UCDO) third. Una Creagh (COMADO) was women's champion on the 6.7 km course with UCCO's Nuala Higgins second and Karen Convery (SCB) third. UCD won the men's team award with UCC second and QUB third. UCC, however, took the women's team award with UCD second.

In the B and C classes competition was also very good with over 33 in the 4.7 km men's B race, won by CRTC's Kevin O'Mahony, and 30 in the 4.6 km women's Novice class, won by Denmark's Vibse Sorensen, a student at Kevin Street College in Dublin. University of Limerick won the men's B team event with UCC second while UCG and UCD took first and second in the women's B team event.

In the Novice competitions G.Galvin (Queen's) was first on the 3.6 km men's course while UCC's E.O'Brien won the 3.4 km women's novice. UCD and UCC were first and second in the men's team event while in the women's event the position were reversed. Overall UCD edged out UCC to take the team competition for the third year in succession.

Following the competition everyone returned to the Village Hotel in Carlingford for a presentation meal followed by the AGM of the Association and later by a disco where a very enjoyable social evening was had by all.

The Annual General Meeting heard officers' reports, followed by news of the Student World Championships. It was decided that, in addition to the O-suits and track suits which were essential dress for day wear, the team should have an evening outfit for formal occasions and official functions to portray the best possible image abroad. Fund-raising to meet the cost of travel, accommodation and gear is to begin immediately, with a number of raffles being held on the day at forthcoming events. Fellow orienteers are asked to be as generous as possible. Other items discussed were squad training and club development. Next year's Championships are to be hosted by UCCO.

The officers elected were: Chairman Brendan O'Brien (UCDO), Secretary Carmel ní Dheasúna (UCCO), Treasurer Tom Conlon (Sligo RTC).

Selection events for 1992 World Student Championships

Following on from the Connacht Championships, the remaining selection events for the World Student Championships are the Leinster Championships at Mullaghmeen on March 28th, Days 1 and 2 of the JK in the Lake District at Easter, other National Events in Britain, and the final selection race will be the Irish Championships in Cornamona, Co. Galway on April 26th.

The squad will be expected to to get together for training at the Shamrock O-Ringen with possibly more sessions before the World Championships.

Frank Ryan.

IOSA Chairman Brendan O'Brien adds thanks to all those involved in staging the event, particularly organisers Hilde Creagh (COMADO) and Andrew O'Mullane (BSO), planner Seán Rothery and controller Liam Convery, as well as to all those such as John Creagh and Con Carroll, who did starts and finishes and the like. And who drank all the Lucozade?.

KNOWING THE SCORE

Have you ever thought about the most efficient way of going about a score orienteering event? You know the problem: you have to visit as many controls as you can in a given time: are you better to go for these ones or those ones? And if you go for those ones, what's the best order to take them in to cover as little distance as possible? And what if you run short on time - how to revise your plan so as to cut your losses? Well, the mathematicians may have the answer, if an article in New Scientist magazine last November is to be believed.

The problem is one which arises in the real world when, say, joining up points on a network of electricity or phone lines to reduce the amount of cable to a minimum. If three towns A, B and C are at the apices of an equilateral triangle with sides of, say, 75 km then clearly to join all three up you can start at a and join it to B and C, using 150 km of cable. If, however, you introduce a fourth town (why not D?) in the middle of the triangle and you link D to A, B and C, you can get away with 132 km, a saving of 18km. There are a number of much more complex examples, the problem being that in orienteering you are trying to plan a route which is a continuous line which doesn't double back on itself, which takes in as many points as possible and which is as short as possible.

What is difficult to quantify is the length of time you spend dithering about which is the best approach and whether to go for just one more control. Re-reading the New Scientist article, it really isn't all that much help. In the meantime, here is one approach:

1. Decide whether you're going to try to get all the controls or not. If you are, it removes much of the uncertainty: you just keep going. A further advantage if you have to copy down controls onto your map is that you don't have to number the circles, saving precious seconds: if you're getting them all the points value of each control is irrelevant.

2. If you're not going to get them all, go for the area with most of the controls first. Leave the areas with fewer controls for the end, if you have time.

3. Never (repeat, never) go over time. You can try to cut your losses by collecting controls on your route back to the finish if you run out of time, but it rarely pays off. The time penalty is usually such that it is impossible to compensate for running over the time limit.

4. If a route choice is so finely balanced as to which way is better, don't waste time dithering: just choose one and go for it! (This applies equally to normal cross-country courses).

5. Plan an overall strategy, a shape for your course, before you set off; don't just look at one control at a time, but be prepared to revise that plan constantly if the forest isn't a fast as you expected or if other factors change.

6. If you can't find a control and you're sure you're in the right place, don't waste time: press on. It's not vital to get every control (unlike a cross-country event). Anyway if it's gone you'll probably be credited with the points and if it's in the wrong place the course may well be declared void ...

7 Don't forget your watch. And leave Complexity Theory at home.

I'd Rather Be Orienteering

Imagine being paid to orienteer. No, not in a Silva-sponsored troll Bowl (live on ESPN), but rather something along the line of "Career-O". Go on, stretch your credulity a little further. Imagine a Monday through Friday, 8 until 5, Urban Score Orienteering Extravaganza, in which you're earning a commission for every control punched. A paradisical scenario conjured up in heaven? A fiendish nightmare dragged up from the depths of hell? Nope, just another week in the life of a city bicycle courier.

You've seen them whizzing down, grinding up and careening crazily along the streets. No doubt they have, after several near encounters, instilled a fear of knobby tyres and lycra in you and your loved ones. But don't be fooled into thinking that these masters of the Sidewalk Slalom (Rush Hour Roulette? Pot Hole Polka?) are merely out pedalling furiously, fearlessly, futilely against some phantom time clock. In fact they are skilled players in a physically and mentally demanding Game. Always a challenge, often a thrill, this Game (which is, indeed, also a vocation for these are professional players who earn dollars for their prowess) is one that lends itself to the very vigour, skills and dogged mentality of the recreational orienteer.

Perhaps I'd best dispense with the third-person narrative and confess that I am a "Bucky". Bucky's was for years the one and only courier service here in Seattle. But it seems that the business is growing, commensurate with the city's development. These days, for every new Espresso vendor on the street corner and multi-story blot on the skyline, there's a nascent messenger company, too. And consequently the streets of Seattle are truly getting to be a dangerous place to stroll.

As to the actual workings of the Game: to begin, the Bucky team consists of some twenty couriers. And one harried dispatcher spends all her day in her subterranean windowless cage, serving out jobs to us via the airwaves. The analogy of a course setter, putting out controls, comes readily to mind. Each courier, then, has a radio strapped to his or her chest, through which communication is established with the Bucky Base. Typically I'm working on 4 to 7 "jobs" at any one time. The pick-up and delivery addresses are scribbled down on a clipboard manifest in courier shorthand (i.e. "CC-P6" or "999-WC" translate to "Columbia Center to the Plaza 600" or "999 Third Avenue to the Westlake Center", respectively.) Woe betide the careless courier who confuses the alphabet soup of E, N, S, W, NE, SW, NW ... street suffixes on a given address. Substituting an "N" for an "S" can land you at the Space Needle rather than the Kingdome. At the end of the day the manifest bears an uncanny resemblance to an elaborate script for a Fischer-Karpov duel.

The real O-skills come into play in the routing of the pick-ups and deliveries. Hills, one-way streets, sidewalks thick with dawdling pedestrians must all be taken into consideration. Whether to use the stairs or ride the elevator, to fight the madding crowds on the pavement or detour to a parallel street that's running in the desired direction: the courier is constantly making split-second route choices for maximum speed and efficiency.

Some buildings present unique navigational challenges. For instance, when I have a delivery to make at the Columbia Center the following thoughts ticker through my mind: should I cycle the steep grade up to the 5th Avenue entrance or enter down below from 4th Ave. from where I will have to ride three crowded escalators up to the elevator banks? Which elevator bank do I need? (There are about 6 or 7 of them, each catering for different floors. If the floor is above the 36th a separate elevator must be taken just to reach the "Sky Lobby" at floor 40, where you are presented with four more choices of banks). Should I squeeze into this elevator along with the eight other people who are all probably stopping at floors below mine, or should I wait for an empty one? Does this office have a separate mail room for deliveries, and if so is it on another floor from from what is written on the address label? And so on ...

Receptionists and mail rooms serve as control flags in this sport, and a signature makes a handy punch. My record to date is 46 deliveries in a day - a modest number in comparison to some of my more zealous co-workers. Pay at Bucky's is straight commission on each piece delivered. So, a warning now before you all throw in your corporate towels and fling your respectable, salaried jobs to the winds: consider that it takes a "good" day to earn enough dollars for a single seat at the opera. Then again, you can certainly strike the health club fees out of your budget and replace all the Lean Cuisines in the freezer with Ding Dongs and Ho Ho's - it's a girl's dream.

All in all it makes for a long and sometimes exhilarating/often tedious work week. But when the weekend finally does arrive I peel off the lycra and with it shed all connection to that paper-shuffling Rat Race. Pity the executives who carry their bulging briefcases home on Friday afternoons. Hah, not I! For two glorious days I'm free to do as I please. Rest at last? Steam in a bubble bath and nibble on chocolates? Heck no - time to trade in the GoreTex for trimtex, the Seattle Fast-Map for an O-map, the helmet for ... a thumb compass (?) and head off to the jungles for some recreational-O : just for fun.

WATERFORD ORIENTEERS NEWS

A new committee was elected at the AGM. They are: Chairman Hugh Dobbs; Secretary Michael Grant; Treasurer/Development Pat O'Connor; Committee members Sue Pim, Veronica Purcell, Billy Fox and Liam Farrell.

Last Autumn's club league was another success. Events were run at Brandon Hill, Kilsheelan, Knockanaffrin, Portlaw and Russelltown. The A course league was won by Andrew Pim while the B was won by his father, Alan. L.Johnson won the adult C league and A.Hennessy won the junior. On the D course the adult title went to M.O'Shea and the junior to Neil Dobbs.

In the Munster League Billy Fox (M21B), Sue Pim (W40/45), Alan Pim (M45/50) and Neil Dobbs (M11) won their classes. Second placed were Brian Daly (M10), Fiachra Fitzgibbon (M11), Eoin O'Riordan (M17) and John Fitzgibbon (M21C). Third places went to Patrick Walsh (M13) and Andrew Pim (M21).

On the mapping front Kilsheelan, Coumshingaun and Mahon Falls have all been re-surveyed. New areas in Wexford, Kilkenny and Russelltown near Clonmel will follow.

Forthcoming events are a Munster League at Knockanaffrin on April 5th adnd a Sprinto-O Championships on the sandhills at Tramore on Saturday 9th May, the day before the Munster Championships at Combaun.

LEINSTER LEAGUE

Only four league events remain: Sugarloaf, Curragh, Rockmarshall and Carrick. The League Prizegiving will be on Friday evening, May 22nd at Glenalbyn Recreation Centre, Stillorgan at 8.30, followed by a Céilí and general hooley. The LOC AGM will preceed the prizegiving, at 7.30 pm. Certificates will also be presented to those finishing with 75% of the winners' points or more. Control cards and start times for Day 2 of the Leinster O-Ringen will ba available too.

Due to problems at some of the earlier events the number of runs to count has been adjusted: Brown and Blue courses (best 5 of 7 events), Green course (best 4 of 6 events), Red, Orange and Yellow (Best 5 of 8 events, as before).

CONTROLLERS

The list of Leinster Grade 1 and 2 Controllers has been updated by Technical Officer Pat Flanagan and will be circulated to clubs. There are 13 Grade 1 controllers in Leinster who will have to do some controlling to keep their status: let's run some events!

FIXTURES

The next fixtures meeting will be on Wednesday May 27th at the Yellow House pub, Rathfarnham at 9 pm (after the Sugarloaf hill race). Please ensure that your club is represented there and that you have decided what fixtures your club can run for the period June to December 1992 at least.

RULES

IOA has adopted the current BOF Rules as a temporary measure until the publication of the new BOF Rules early in 92 and their amendment to form the new Irish Orienteering Rules. Copies of the new Irish rules will be circulated to all affiliated clubs as soon as they are available.

EQUIPMENT

The LOC has a Seiko finish clock available to Leinster clubs, several orienteering videos and a course overprinter available to clubs. Contact Jane Watt (936241) if you need any of these. All clubs should by now have got the standard orienteering roadsigns made by LOC for events.

The next meeting of the LOC is on May 11th. Contact Secretary Jane Watt, 17 Templeroan Way, Dublin 16 if you want anything discussed.

Three Rock Orienteering Club

AGM

Your 1992 Committee, elected at the AGM in February, is:

Chairman:	Brian Hollinshead (2881456)
Secretary:	Vera Murtagh (908237)
Treasurer:	Trina Cleary (936187)
Mapping:	David Rowe (956502)
Fixtures:	Peter O'Neill (943613)
Training:	Philip Butler (2853823)
Juniors:	Brigid Flanagan (980928)
Committee:	John McCullough (378819)
	Colm Rothery

Events

We ran a night event followed hte next day by a Pooter Relay and score event in Phoenix Park on 15th & 16th February. The usual thanks are due to all who helped out at both events. Our next event is the Leinster League final at Carrick on 17th May. Nigel Campbell-Crawford (543355) is organiser and he'll be looking for help to run the event.

Training/Social

The March "First Friday" on the 6th had Philip Butler unveiling his Beginners' Guide to planning and controlling: Thanks, Philip! Remember the April First Friday on 3rd at the usual place, Glenalbyn Sports Centre, Stillorgan at 8 pm.

On the social side we're having a "Progressive Dinner" on Sunday April 5th. Tickets will be £10 each, £30 for a family and £5 for juniors. This is a fund-raiser for IOC 93 which 3ROC will be running. Tickets will be available from committee members - more specific details later. Please support it, it promises to be a memorable night!

Leinster Championships, 28th March

The club is organising a coach to travel to Mullaghmeen on Saturday, 28th March. This proved very successful last year and we hope it will be equally popular this year. Remember the 3ROC Club Championships are included in the event and the bus will be subsidised. Joining us will be some members of London's LOK for our Annual (?) Challenge match. Contact Brian Hollinshead (2881456) to book your seat and Trina Cleary (936187) if you can offer accommodation to Lokkies.

Irish Championships

IOC '92 is on Saturday 25th (Individual) and Sunday 26th April (Relay) in Cornamona and Kilcornan, Co. Galway. John McCullough (378819) is as usual co-ordinating the Club relay teams. Only teams entered officially by him will be able to run as 3ROC Club Relay Teams. Give your name, age class and appropriate fee to John if you are a Senior, or your name and age class if you're a Junior - 3ROC will pay the Juniors' entry fee. Latest date for entry for 3ROC teams is 12th March unless you pay the late fee yourself. John's address is 9 Arran Road, Dublin 9.

AOB:

Fashion: Trina Cleary has 3ROC O-suits for members: stay cool at the Irish Champs!
Transports of Delight: Interested in a bus to the Munster Champs on May 10th? Ask for a late start and ring John McCullough (378819) to book your seat.
Good luck to the 3ROC contingent at the JK.
Well done all who ran in the Leinster Final of the TIO Trophy at Sugarloaf!

Enquiries to Vera Murtagh, 19 The Cloisters, Terenure, Dublin 6w.

Annual General Meeting: The AGM will be held in early April; details of date and venue in enclosed notice. All members are asked to attend. Nominations to serve on the Committee are welcome; please contact the Secretary.

Annual Subscriptions: For those who have not yet renewed their subscription, a renewal form is enclosed. Please return as soon as possible.

TIO Match: Setanta and CNOC had their first ever challenge in the Leinster section of this competition. While CNOC had the advantage in the A, B and C groups, Setanta dominated the other three groups. The full results are elsewhere in this TIO. The overall result gives the match to CNOC. Well done to all and better luck next time.

LEINSTER CHAMPSPIONSHIPS: The Club is gearing up for this event at Mullaghmeen, Co. Westmeath on March 28th. All offers of help will be greatly appreciated. The ground work for the new map was carried out over December-January. We were extremely lucky with the exceptional weather which made this possible. This event is run in conjunction with the Sprint O Champs. by GEN at Brockagh.

ENQUIRIES: Brian Power,
Hon. Secretary,
Setanta Orienteers,
15 Templeroan Avenue,
Dublin 16.

Note. On the RED course the correct code for 15, the last control, was A4. Those who wrote G5, which was a control on a bench, were wrong. Tho who left the box blank are to be excused as the map in the area of A4 was incorrect which made the control difficult to find. The same be s about controls 17-19 on the White course.

Found in the Phoenix Park on Sunday: a compass. Contact John McCullough (01-378819) to recover it.

Thanks to all who helped this weekend, particularly Brian Hollinshead, Nigel Campbell-Crawford and Nora Lee. Also Con Carroll, Una Coughlan, Vera Murtagh and the ´OSúille-abháins. What a pity we didn't get more teams entering the Pooter Relay (in which a team of 3 had to visit 40 controls between them as quickly as possible), and that more of you didn't come along to run in the Park on a fine, moonlit night.

After several missed deadlines, Miss PRO is happy tp report that Fingal orienteers are alive, well and busy. Our first event of the season in Newbridge house was well attended. John Bean planned, Doug Corrie controlled and Ann Naughton organised. Leonard Floyd made his planning debut for the colour event on Killiney Hill in November, Michael O'Keeffe controlled and Jean O'Neill organised. January saw us back at Newbridge house for a score event. Well done to Frank Flood (and the Lord Mayor's planning committee), to Damien Kelly who controlled and to organiser Lillian Quill. Our next event will be the Leinster League at Rockmarshall on April 12th and Bríd Quigley is the organiser. Help will of course be needed, so put your name down early to avoid disappointment.

Some notable individual performances deserve mention. Jean O'Neill has been carrying the Fingal flag at home and abroad. A 3rd place at the NI Championships at Binevenagh was followed by a run in the Vets' Home International in Scotland. ("How was it, Jean?" "Rough!") and morecently by a dip in Corkagh Park where she ended up wet to her tonsils in one of the ditches. Also worth a mention are Michael O'Keeffe's marvellous (only for the torn control card) run at the Christmas score event and Lillian and Anne's 3 hour 20 minute sprint at Trooperstown in November. Anne now reckons that taking off the shoes and socks at the rivers isn't worth it. She still comes home wet to the knees.

Finally, a reminder that meetings take place on the first Tuesday of the month in Coláiste Choilm, Swords, at 8.00 pm and new members are of course welcome. Of late these have tended to be somewhat lonely little occasions though the apres-meetings in the Lord Mayor's have been well attended. If you would like to know more about the club, give Frank Flood a ring at 408362.

Happy Orienteering.
